Freedom of movement: If the members of a state are forced to flee, the legitimacy of that government is questionable. On the other hand, if members cannot or must leave, again the government is not democratically legitimate.

Immigration control: While limiting access and determining who may or may not become members of a sovereign state remains a legitimate prerogative of the state, the criteria, rules and processes for doing so must be compatible with its character as a democratic state.

CALL FOR PAPERS

REFUGEE AND IMMIGRANT WOMEN: AN INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVE

The Centre for Refugee Studies will publish a special issue of Refuge on "Refugee and Immigrant Women: An International Perspective.”

This special issue of Refuge is intended to provide a space for the voices of immigrant and refugee women from diverse cultural and geographical contexts to be heard. Researchers and practitioners from academic circles and grassroots organizations working on issues involving refugee and immigrant women are urged to submit papers which will illuminate refugee and immigrant women’s experiences. Papers will address theoretical frameworks, empirical research, and policy issues with a focus on the social, economic, legal and political consequences for refugee and immigrant women.

Contributions with abstracts are invited. They must be received not later than August 31, 1997. Papers should be typed, double-spaced, and referenced in proper academic form. They should not exceed 10 pages or about 4000 words. Short papers of about 900 words are also welcomed. Word-processed submissions may be sent on disk or by email.

Les rédacteurs acceptent aussi des articles en français. Le style doit conformer aux normes exigés pour les articles rédigés en anglais.
