Refugee Rights: Report on a Comparative Survey
By James C. Hathaway and John A. Dent

Are visa controls intended to keep refugees from reaching an asylum country legal? Can asylum-seekers legitimately contest conditions of detention? At what point do refugees have the right to work, or to claim social assistance?

These are among the many issues addressed by Refugee Rights: Report on a Comparative Survey, a ground-breaking analysis of the human rights of refugees around the world. Working in collaboration with thirty renowned legal experts from Europe, Africa, Asia, Oceania, North America, and Latin America, Professor James Hathaway, Osgoode Hall Law School, York University, and John Dent, Senior Research Associate, International Refugee Rights Project, Osgoode Hall Law School, York University, analyze the international legal instruments that set the human rights of refugees. By grounding their analysis in real-life challenges facing refugees today, Hathaway and Dent have produced a book as valuable to activists as to scholars.

Refugee Rights will provoke debate on the adequacy of the international refugee rights regime. It is essential reading for everyone concerned to counter threats to the human dignity of refugees.

CALL FOR PAPERS

THEMATIC NETWORK 'WORKING ON THE FRINGES: IMMIGRANT BUSINESSES, ECONOMIC INTEGRATION AND INFORMAL PRACTICES' PUBLIC POLICY AND THE INSTITUTIONAL CONTEXT OF IMMIGRANT BUSINESSES LIVERPOOL, UNITED KINGDOM, 22-25 MARCH 2001

Proposals are invited for papers to be delivered at this international conference, sponsored by the European Union under its Targeted Socio-Economic Research programme.

This conference is the third in a series. The first two in Amsterdam (October 1999) and Jerusalem (June 2000) reviewed existing national research and the socio-economic context of immigrant businesses, respectively. Prospective participants are therefore asked to emphasise legal, institutional and public policy issues in their responses to this call. Please be as specific as possible about the ways in which the situation in the country or countries your paper considers is similar to or distinct from that of other countries.

Please send an abstract of your paper (300-400 words) by email to Jan Rath (email: rath@pscw.uva.nl) or Giles Barrett (email: g.a.barrett@livjm.ac.uk). Please do this as soon as possible, but in any case not later than September 1, 2000.

We will notify you if your paper can be accepted by 30 September 2000. Contributions are encouraged from any of the social sciences, from business studies, from policy disciplines and from workers in national, regional and local government. (To this end please forward this invitation to others you feel may have something to contribute.) Costs. There will be no conference fee for those delivering papers. Subsistence and accommodation will be provided, travel costs will be supported as fully as airfares and budgetary constraints allow. Further information on the conferences and the international network can be found on the Internet at: http://home.pscw.uva.nl/rath/imment/tserthird.htm
